FARMERS MEET AT LOUISA ON AUGUST 14, 15, 16

Lawrence county farmers should keep in mind the tent meeting to be held in Louisa from Thursday night, August 14, to Saturday night, the 16th. Sessions will be held afternoons of Friday and Saturday, and on the three nights.

The list of speakers has not yet been received from Louisville, but we hope to have it in time for our next issue. It is safe to say, however, that the speakers will be worth coming miles to hear.

This will be a very beneficial meeting for all who will attend. There will be moving pictures at night that are sure to interest everybody who cares anything for farming.

Make your arrangements to attend.

8,000 AMERICAN TROOPS TO STAY ON RIVER RHINE

Coblentz.—The First division will begin entraining for Brest about August 15. This would leave a total of about 8,000 American troops in the Army of Occupation.

This force would be composed of the Eighth Infantry, with a company of engineers, a company of military police and a unit of artillery.

The Third Division will begin entraining for Brest August 5. It was said a week would be required to move the division to Brest.

A Washington dispatch announced that all of the First Division except the units to be retained in Germany would entrain August 15, but the strength of the force to be left on the Rhine was not given.

WEST VA. MAN FOR PRESIDENT

Charleston, W. Va.—West Virginia Democrats already have been assured of the support of some of the most prominent leaders of the party in three states for the boom which is to be launched within a few weeks, probably at Clarksville or Washington, in behalf of the candidacy of John W. Davis, Ambassador to Great Britain, for the Democratic Presidential nomination.

This information was received from one of the most prominent of the Davis boosters in the state, who declared that the committee which is to launch the nation-wide publicity campaign would be organized at an early date. It will be made up of West Virginia Democrats, but at least three other states are expected to be represented.

The states in question are said to be Maryland, Virginia and Kentucky. At least one of the leading Democrats of each of these states already has been consulted personally, and it is the belief of the Davis boosters in this state that when the boom actually is launched it will be with at least four states behind it actively.

The enthusiasm behind the movement in West Virginia has been gaining force rapidly in the last month, and all divisions of the party in West Virginia are said to favor it. Actuated by the belief that there is no other Democrat in the country who has a better chance of winning the nomination than Ambassador Davis, they are willing to overlook local animosities in lining up solidly behind his candidacy.

Although Governor John J. Cornwell has made no public statement on the subject it is understood that he is strongly in favor of Davis and will lend every possible encouragement to organizing for the nation-wide campaign.

It is predicted by Democrats who are taking part in the formation of plans for organizing the committee that it will be well under way early in September, and possibly may come before that time.

In other words, West Virginia Democrats hats already are in the air for John W. Davis, and their coats soon may follow their hats.

GIRL HELD CAPTIVE BY ARMY DESERTER IN MOUNTAIN HUT

Bluefield, W. Va.—Manderville Farley, alleged to be a deserter from the army, and the reputed leader of a band of outlaws, is in the mountains about twenty miles from here, near the Raleigh county line, holding in captivity a fourteen-year-old girl, defying the authorities to come after him, but with his chin shot off and a bullet through one of his shoulders inflicted by the girl's father who made an unsuccessful attempt, single-handed, to rescue his daughter and take Farley a prisoner, according to word received here.

Farley and his gang are said to have been making the mountains of that section their rendezvous since the early part of the outbreak of the war. Farley and the girl, a Miss Abshire, became sweethearts and the mountaineer persuaded the girl to elope with him, and is alleged to have taken her back into the mountains, where he has been holding her in captivity.

DR. STURGELL IS OF SOUND MIND

Louisville.—That Dr. George M. Sturgell, Ashland physician and former First Lieutenant in the base hospital, Camp Taylor, who is being tried by court martial for alleged theft of $163 worth of government property, is of sound mind, was the testimony of Major William H. Nafis, member of the special medical board appointed to investigate the sanity of the accused.

DOINGS IN THE LOCAL OIL FIELD

The test well on Dr. C. B. Walter's farm on upper Blaine has been drilled deeper and a very encouraging showing of oil is found. A shot of 80 quarts of nitroglycerine will be exploded in the well on Friday of this week if the material can be delivered there by that time.

On the Morris farm a production that looks to be sufficient to pay was found at about 250 feet, but the well will be drilled deeper.

The Almon Oil and Gas company has drilled in a good gas well on the Phillips farm.

Considerable acreage on Catt has been leased by a company that proposes to develop.

The W. Va. Oil, Gas & Distributing company has made a location near the line of M. F. Conley, Trustee. On the latter tract well No. 3 will start at once.

A shot was given the New Domain's well recently completed on Carl Bussey's farm, in the Busseyville field, on Wednesday afternoon. Thursday morning, it is reported oil was standing in the well at a depth of 400 feet. This indicates that this is the best well yet drilled in the Busseyville field. This is the well started by E. E. Franklin.

The Omar Oil & Gas Company is starting a well on the Lan Bradley tract this week. Tom Hays is drilling it.

The second well on the Linc Moore farm is being drilled.

SMALL POX ON TROOP SHIP; 138 WAR BRIDES ISOLATED

New York.—The first case of small pox discovered on a returning troopship held up the transport Mobile from Brest on her arrival here today, resulting in the quarantining of the nearly 5,000 officers and men on their arrival at Camp Mills and the segregation of 138 "war brides" under care of the Red Cross after they were landed at Hoboken.

A Filipino mess boy was found to have developed a mild case of the disease after the vessel left France, and he was quarantined with his three Filipino companions in the ship's hospital. Then all persons on board were vaccinated.

The Mobile brought the first of the Fourth division to return home, including the 93 officers and 3,151 men of the 47th Infantry, and 21 colonels and lieutenant-colonels and 25 enlisted men of the third army corps headquarters detachment.

The Fourth division, nicknamed by its members the "Forgotten Fourth" because of its lack of publicity, fought in the Aisne, Marne, St. Mihiel and Argonne offensives, suffering 2,749 casualties of a total of 5,330 officers and men engaged in action. Of 165 officers originally, there were 103 casualties at the end of the war.

Gene, son of K. R. Bolt, of this place, and Linus Hewlett, son of Rev. H. B. Hewlett, are members of the Fourth Division.

FROM TEXAS.

Mrs. Ruth Hall Roberts, El Paso, Texas, has been visiting her cousin, Frank Powers. It has been thirty-three years since her last visit here. Mrs. Roberts is the widow of a Baptist minister. She was suddenly called away to meet a soldier son returning from France with a French bride.

HUNTINGTON MAN CRUSHED TO DEATH BENEATH TRACTOR

A sad accident occurred near Buchanan Monday morning of this week when Charles Hatch, 24, of Huntington, W. Va., was crushed to death beneath the wheels of a tractor which he was demonstrating.

A log rolled from the truck striking him and knocking him from his seat. His leg caught in one of the wheels, forcing his body under the tractor and his chest was so badly crushed that he died on the way to Catlettsburg. He was salesman for an automobile dealer in Huntington and left home at six o'clock that morning.

John Kirk, whom Hatch was teaching to operate the tractor, was unable to stop the machine when the peril of the situation became imminent. Jim Peterman, who was passing near the field where the accident occurred, ran to proffer assistance and with frenzied exertion lifted the truck from the prostrate victim.

Kirk and Peterman stated that Hatch remained conscious for several minutes, and directed them to inform his relatives of the accident.

Mr. Hatch was a popular young man in Huntington. One day before enlisting in the Signal corps of the army he married Miss Goldie Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Smith, of Sixth avenue. This was early in December, 1917. The next day he left for Columbus Barracks, Ohio, where he was later transferred to Camp Grant, Rockford, Ill. Subsequently he was sent to Newport News, Va., in the aviation corps. He was discharged in April, and returned to Huntington, having served with honor in the time of national peril, and retained on home soil only because of invaluable work here as an instructor.

Beside the mother, Mrs. Irene Hatch, he leaves two sisters, Miss Janet and Miss Josephine Hatch, and one brother, James, who is now employed with a coal corporation and who formerly held a position as teller in the Huntington National Bank.

THE STURGELL TRIAL.

Louisville, Ky.—After fiery arguments by counsel for the accused and the trial Judge Advocate of the case, Dr. George M. Sturgell, of Ashland, charged with theft of thousands of dollars' worth of drugs, was given into the hands of the court, whose decision will not be made public until after the reviewing authority has examined the record.

In the final argument Charles Higgins, of Ashland, civilian counsel for Dr. Sturgell, declared that Maj. William Nafis, witness for the Government, had testified to reading medical books which books never existed. Mr. Higgins said that he submitted bogus names to the witness. Mr. Higgins also said that two members of the board which tested Dr. Sturgell's sanity are not acquainted with insanity.

Lieut. R. M. Bridgforth, Sturgell's military counsel, said the prosecution failed utterly to prove larceny, but had only established that the physician had the goods in his possession.

Dr. Sturgell had nothing to say and did not take the stand.

The whole defense of the trial during its hearing last week was to prove the insanity of the accused. The prosecution offered in rebuttal the report of a board of medical officers who examined Dr. Sturgell and pronounced him sane.

Frank Uhles, of Kermit, W. Va., of the Insurance Bureau of the Modern Woodmen in that place, was the first witness. He testified that Dr. Sturgell had been employed by the insurance bureau as medical examiner, but that he had been released two years ago because of incompetency. He added that Sturgell had been his personal physician, but that during the past three years he had been afraid to take any of the medicine prescribed by Dr. Sturgell.—Louisville Times.

JUDGE HANNAH STRONGLY INDORSES JUDGE CARROLL

Sandy Hook, Ky., July 24, 1919. Hon. M. M. Logan, Louisville, Ky.

Dear Sir: I write this letter to express my deep interest in the candidacy of Chief Justice John D. Carroll for the Democratic nomination for Governor in the primary on August 2d.

I know Judge Carroll intimately; we served together as Judges of the Court of Appeals. I never knew a finer type of man. He would make an ideal Governor, firm, fair and just. That he would defeat the Republicans in November, if nominated, I have no doubt. This should be one of the controlling considerations with Democrats.

Call on me for anything I can do to further his candidacy.

Yours truly, J. B. HANNAH.

AMERICAN PAYS MEXICAN BANDITS RANSOM FOR RELEASE OF HIS SON

Acting upon the advice of the Mexican Government, John West Thompson, an American ranchman, living near Mexico City, has paid the 1,500 pesos ransom demanded by bandits for the release of his fourteen-year-old son.

The Mexican authorities said they feared the bandits would murder the boy unless they received the money.

Secretary Lansing said the Mexican Foreign Office had agreed to refund the amount of the ransom and to take measures for the capture and punishment of the bandits.

The kidnaping took place Thursday at the Thompson ranch, 30 miles from Mexico City and the boy was released on Friday.

ASHLAND MAN ELECTROCUTED.

Coming in contact with a 2,200 voltage wire, while at work from a telephone pole on 14th street and Greenup avenue, shortly after seven o'clock Saturday morning Frank Carroll, line-man, and an employee of the Boyd County Electric Co., was electrocuted and died a few minutes after the accident occurred.

Carroll, a man about 27 years old, while repairing a wire accidentally let his leg come in contact with the high voltage wire which resulted in his death before he could be reached by H. E. Francis a fellow line-man. He leaves a wife and children.

Bonds amounting to almost a million dollars have been sold and the money for road work is available.

Wayne county will occupy a prominent place on the map within a few years.

W. C. T. U. MEETING.

At the M. E. Church South on Wednesday evening a meeting was held in reference to the coming state-wide prohibition election in November.

There were two speakers, Mrs. Beauchamp, state president of the W. C. T. U., presented Miss Esther Elfreth who is the president of the New Jersey W. C. T. U.

Miss Elfreth spoke interestingly of the work which had been accomplished by the organization which she represented. Mrs. Beauchamp then talked directly of the coming prohibition election and the need for the securing every vote possible in favor of the amendment. She asked that an organization be perfected, in the county, which would see that information is placed in the hands of the voters concerning the prohibition election. This organization is to help in any way necessary and legitimate to secure the passage of the prohibition measure.

A county organization will be effected at an early date.

The names of all must be sent in to the Secretary of the Lawrence County Red Cross, Louisa, by August 10th. If enough names are received a competent nurse will be sent into the county for two months.

Classes will be made up, for two weeks each, at Louisa, Blaine, Webbville and Fallsburg. In sending in names please designate at which of these four places you desire to take the course.

ASSAULT.

Frank Kazee, of Cherokee, is charged with assaulting and seriously injuring an aged man, Worth M. Ferguson, his neighbor. This was the result of the trouble which recently occurred between Kazee and Ferguson's son-in-law, Willie Thompson.

CAPT. LOEB IS U. S. ENGINEER FOR THIS DISTRICT

Capt. G. A. Loeb, who has been at Louisa and Catlettsburg several times in connection with our work, has been appointed as Junior Engineer in charge of the Catlettsburg suboffice and Dam No. 30, Ohio river, and will assume his duties next Monday.

He has been a captain with the Engineers in France throughout the war and expects his discharge this week.

Capt. Loeb is an engineer of considerable experience and has been in the Engineer service for about 20 years in both Cincinnati districts and in the Louisville district. He has worked on the Ohio, Big Sandy, Kentucky and Muskingum rivers, so that his duties will not be wholly new to him.

JACK DEMPSEY.

Jack Dempsey, conquerer of Jess Willard, and by virtue of the fact that he is likely to appear in Huntington in a four or six-round sparring exhibition in the near future. Negotiations to this effect are now in progress between Dempsey's manager and the Tri-State Athletic club. If Dempsey appears in Huntington he will spar four rounds with big Bill Bates, his sparring partner, and perhaps two rounds with Ed Canapa, champion middleweight of West Virginia.

There is indeed strong hope of bringing Dempsey to Huntington. During the champion's engagement in Cincinnati during the week after his whirlwind victory over Willard, he promised some old friends from Logan that he would come to Huntington soon in order to meet relatives and acquaintances in Logan and Mingo counties. Both by Dempsey's own statement and by numerous other means it has been definitely established that he is descended from well known families of southern West Virginia and keeps in touch with relatives in Logan and Mingo.

About the time of the 1913 flood he returned to Logan county and worked in the mines at Gay and Shamrock.

If this arrangement is carried out motion pictures will be taken of the sparring event and attendant features and the films exhibited far and near.

CLAIMS SELF DEFENSE.

On a bench warrant charging him with murder, John L. Neace, known as "Donor" was taken to Lexington and lodged in jail. He will be tried at the September Criminal Court for the killing of Courtney Noble in Breathitt county. The Fayette county courts have jurisdiction because the victim died in Lexington July 17, having been taken there for treatment.

LEAD IS HELD BY JUDGE CARROLL

By Thomas B. Cromwell.

Lexington, Ky.—If the writer's post card as it has been in the "past, and there is no reason why it should not be, unless the estimators in the 120 counties are misjudging the sentiment of the voters, Chief Justice John D. Carroll, of Newcastle, is leading Governor James D. Black, of Barbourville, and should win the Democratic nomination for Governor at the primary next Saturday by approximately 7,000 votes.

WILL STOP AMERICANS MARRYING GERMANS

Coblentz.—Reports of marriages between American soldiers and German girls have been received at headquarters from various parts of the occupied area during the last few days, but as yet no charges have been filed against any of the men as it is believed most of the marriages were due to misunderstanding regarding the anti-fraternization regulations.

A week before the treaty was signed several of the chaplains through a misunderstanding informed the soldiers that marriages were permissible as soon as the Germans accepted the peace terms. Officers say that a number of marriages took place before this belief was corrected by a special order from headquarters calling the attention of officers and men to the fact that until the United States ratifies the treaty Germany and America technically were at war and the regulation prohibiting fraternization was still in force.

At headquarters it is said that even after the United States ratified the treaty, marriages with German girls will be prohibited by an army order.

OIL NEWS.

There is much interest in Magoffin county and promise of extensive development shortly. Leases are being secured at a rapid rate and many are reported changing hands. A well will be put down shortly in the north-east section of the county near Bloomington. The Bed Rock Oil Company is preparing to sink a test on Burning Fork on the Jack Arnett farm, three miles above Salsersville.

VOTE FOR RYLAND MUSICK.

Democrats in every voting precinct in the county are called upon to vote for Ryland C. Musick for Attorney General and help make a winning ticket for November. Pass the word to your neighbor.

TUNNEL CAVE-IN.

Traffic on the E. K. railroad has been interfered with the past several days by the caving in of the tunnel three miles this side of Riverton. The top for a distance of some sixty feet gave way leaving a gaping hole forty feet deep. A cut will more than likely have to replace the tunnel. Passengers and perishable freight was transferred while workmen were clearing away the dirt.—Grayson Journal.

MR. LITTLEJOHN GOING WEST.

Says the Ironton Register: John D. Littlejohn, formerly of Grayson, for some years editor of the Wellston Sentinel, has resigned his chair, and on August 1st, will go to Mattoon, Ill., where he will assume charge of the editorial work on the Commercial Star of that city. We are mighty sorry to see John go so far away from home, but we know he feels it is for the best. He is a splendid newspaper man, a fine writer, and the Commercial Star will take on a new lease of life when he begins to direct its policy. We will miss him more than we care to confess. He was to have been one of our banquet guests at the new Hotel Marting but may not get to attend now. Editor Funk, Littlejohn and Harry Taylor were the Big Three in this territory. The former died last winter and now Littlejohn is going west. Taylor must take on some new acquaintances but he does this smoothly and it will not be long until he is throwing bricks and bouquets at the editor of the South Webster Blade or Otway Digger.

We wish John Littlejohn all the success in his new field that he deserves. Need we say more?

OPEN MOONLIGHT SCHOOLS AUG. 4

Frankfort, Ky.—The opening of the moonlight schools August 4 will be the great step in the campaign now waged by the Kentucky Illiteracy Commission in the hope of eradicating illiteracy from the State by 1920.

The report of Nat B. Sewell, State Inspector and Examiner, rendered in December, 1918, shows that approximately 100,000 illiterates were taught to read and write through the work of the commission and that a similar number yet remained to be taught during the existence of the Illiteracy Commission.

The organization is perfected, and it is the aim of the commission to reach the remaining 100,000 before the 1920 census.

Many teachers are beginning their fourth or fifth year of volunteer service in the counties of the State and all are confident of wiping illiteracy out of their districts during the campaign.

The sessions which open August 2 will be followed by successive sessions in other counties of the State, the moonlight school openings followed closed upon the beginning of the day-school terms.

During the six weeks session adult illiterates who are unable to attend the moonlight schools will be taken care of in their homes so that by the end of the term, it is hoped, all residents will be able to read and write and the ban of illiteracy will be lifted.

A GOOD FRIEND

A good friend stands by you when in need. Louisa people tell how Doan's Kidney Pills have stood the test. Mrs. Frank Pigg of Water St., Louisa, endorsed Doan's eight years ago and again confirms the story. Could you ask for more convincing testimony?

"I suffered for a long time with many distressing symptoms of kidney complaint," says Mrs. Pigg. "The most annoying ailment was a severe pain, in my back and a dull, bearing down feeling through my loins which at times was almost unbearable. I was weak and languid, constantly tired and had no ambition. My back was in such a bad condition I couldn't stoop over without severe pain and it was a terrible effort for me to rise. I was restless at night and couldn't sleep. Mornings I was just as tired as when I went to bed. I was nervous and suffered from severe dizzy spells. My kidneys acted irregularly, too. I finally took Doan's Kidney Pills, getting them at Louisa Drug Co.'s store, and the pains in my back and loins left. The action of my kidneys became normal and the other distressing symptoms were removed."

Mrs. Pigg gave the above statement on March 29, 1910, and on December 4, 1916 she said: "The cure Doan's Kidney Pills made for me is still lasting and I now enjoy the best of health." 60c. at all dealers. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfgs., Buffalo, N. Y.

FARM DEPARTMENT

By G. C. BAKER, County Agent.

NOTICE.

There will be a meeting of all the Blaine club members at Blaine on Wednesday, August 6th, at 2 p. m. All boys who have pigs are expected to be present.

MAKE JITNEY JOURNEYS.

The enormous rush of the early summer is gone. The farmer can now draw a long breath and plan to use his jitney for some little journeys about the neighborhood and over into the surrounding country.

The farmer and his family can make these jitney journeys pleasure trips and profitable trips at the same time. Plans can be made for a trip which will allow the family to visit some farm where the use of ground limestone has sweetened a field so that sweet clover or alfalfa will grow. Another day a farmer who has made a success of feeding hogs may be seen.

The farmer's wife could use the machine to call upon some woman who has installed waterworks or an electric lightplant in the home. She might make a point of passing some homes where the planting of shrubbery or trees has made the farms especially attractive.

In other words now that a breathing spell has come use the car as a pleasure and an observation car at the same time. By taking these little jitney journeys the car can be made to pay for its keep by educating the farmer and his family through seeing what other people on other farms happen to be doing.

BUY SEED EARLY.

Each year for the past several years there has been an acute shortage of clover seed in this country. One of the reasons for this is that we have been unable to import any seed; but the chief reason is that the production of clover seed has declined rapidly in the United States. This in turn is due to the fact that the acreage of clover grown in some of the chief seed producing states like Ohio, Indiana and Michigan is much smaller than formerly.

Clover seed at no time has been cheap, but an examination of market prices for the past few years shows that the fall price has been several dollars less in every case than the late winter and early spring prices. Last year, for example, clover seed could be bought in the fall for about $18.00 per bushel. In the spring the price was $30.00 and good seed was difficult to get even at this price. There was simply not enough seed to go around. That there will be a similar shortage of seed next year is practically certain. In fact some authorities predict the most serious shortage yet experienced. This opinion is borne out by the high price of seed for future delivery on the Toledo market. It is not at all unlikely that good clover seed will sell for $35.00 or $40.00 per bushel next year.

There is a good opportunity of saving many dollars and what is even more important getting the choicest seed the market affords, by buying just as soon as the new crop of seed comes in the market. While the shortage of alfalfa seed has not been so marked as with clover, yet the supply of high-grade seed has not been large and since the quality of the seed is such an important point in growing alfalfa, no mistake can be made by buying early.

KEEP THE LAND COVERED.

Nothing will pay the farmer so well as holding on to the fertility in his land. This valuable material can be washed away by the driving rains especially when freezes and thaws have loosened the soil.

SUMMER COLDS

Many have their worst colds during the warm months. A very little of

after meals, puts that quality into the blood that helps thwart that rundown condition that is so depressing. Build up your vitality—try Scott's.

Scott & Lowe, Bloomfield, N. J. 19-6

Cover crops planted this late summer and fall will save the fertility already in the soil and add more vegetable matter to rot and make the soil plough proof next season. If land is idle at this time it can be put into condition and sowed to crimson clover or vetch. Later rye, wheat or barley can be planted to grow all winter when the weather is mild.

Sure, of course, to-be-sure, seed is high priced; but so are fertilizers and land. A first-class green cover crop turned under in the spring will add fertility to the soil and at the same time make cultivation an easy operation. The farmer who has had experience with green crops, will need no urging; but the agent hopes some of those who have not sown cover crops will try them this year and be convinced.

HOME CIRCLE COLUMN

MOTHER.

Alas! how little do we appreciate our mother's tender love while she is with us, though dutiful and devoted to her. After her lips are closed forever, and we know she will never more lead us by her counsel, cheer us along the pathway when thorns pierce us, shadows gather over us, then we turn memory's pages and feel that if we only had mother back how many rays of sunshine we would bring into her heart. So many kindnesses we might have shown her if we had only known she was going away so soon to return no more. How often these thoughts will pass through your mind after your sweet old mother leaves you, if she has not even now passed over the Dark River.

"Yet oft as I look backward o'er the long, long waste of years, My heart is filled with sudden pain, my eyes grow dim with tears, As I recall with vain regret and many a secret smart; How oft in times of waywardness I grieved her tender heart. While these thoughts come our mother's tender love comforts. We feel that while we have grieved her many times, her love wrapped the 'mantle of charity' about us. This is comfort. To those who are blest with a mother let us beg that you treat her with the tenderest care. For no matter how you treat her when she leaves you will feel many regrets."

The Church and the Community.

There is nothing that speaks better for a community than to have in its midst a number of good churches. They reveal the standard of the citizenry of their community as nothing else can. They reveal a high standard of morals and living. Their influence, though it may seem small, is a great factor in upholding the laws and in putting down all evil. They have an indirect influence on every business in the community, and this influence is the very life of the community's business. The presence of the churches increase the value of all the real estate round about them. They help to attract settlers and to draw trade. Have you ever thought how few people would want to live in our community if we had no churches?

Besides all the commercial influence that the churches have, they maintain a high standard of morals and righteous living. This is the most important phase of the modern church. It is not so much that churches can, of themselves, save people, but that the churches by standing only for right, help men to live nobler lives. It is the ideals for which the church stands that makes it a power in upbuilding the standard of citizenry. Certain evils and practices would be much more common if it were not for the fact that the church frowns upon such improper conduct.

Our community should be proud of its churches. The high standard of our citizenry must be attributed to their presence more than to any other one factor. Their influence in building up our community cannot be measured. They have been a factor for good and in the future may they exert even a more powerful influence in behalf of justice and right.

It is not pleasant to record the truth that there are mothers, who have sacrificed motherhood to worldly ambition, and the most happy women on earth are those who have set aside filial ties in order to live lives of social frivolity, and the time comes to all such, when the bloom of youth forsakes the cheek, the fire of youth dies out of the eye. Such often turn to their homes for sympathy and love, only to find that they, too, have vanished, and when it is too late the sad truth dawns upon them that they are unhonored and unloved. The path of duty is the only safe path, let it be ever so thorny, and the only safe guide-board points to the Christian home.

There is no surer safeguard against the temptations that come to young men and women than a love for home. It has brought back and held many a wanderer in a safe place. It is something not only to love home but to know that you love it—and to know that you are happier at home than in any other spot on earth.

AS FAR AS I KNOW.

"As far as I know," said a person one night.

"There is naught in this world but what is just right; I have all I want to both eat and wear. The flowers I gather are fragrant and fair. The birds in the trees always sing a glad song. And as far as I know there is nothing wrong."

"All people I know are loyal and kind, And I am contented in body and mind; I read about folks who are awfully bad, About souls that are weary and hearts that are sad, About children that quarrel and people who fight, But as far as I know everything is all right."

"I read there are people who do many things That on them the worst kind of suffering brings, That women are wicked and men are untrue, And sinfulness runneth society thru' But as far as I know—as far as I know—"

Was a child of six years, and to her it was true;

That we have all we want to eat and to wear,

And that justice and goodness abound everywhere.

GIRLS! USE LEMONS FOR SUNBURN, TAN

Try it! Make this lemon lotion to whiten your tanned or freckled skin.

Squeeze the juice of two lemons into a bottle containing three ounces of Orchard White, shake well, and you have a quarter pint of the best freckle, sunburn and tan lotion, and complexion whitener, at very, very small cost.

Your grocer has the lemons and any drug store or toilet counter will supply three ounces of Orchard White for a few cents. Massage this sweetly fragrant lotion into the face, neck, arms and hands and see how quickly the freckles, sunburn, windburn and tan disappear and how clear, soft and white the skin becomes. Yes! It is harmless.

Race riots in Chicago and Washington, in which more than 50 lives have been lost, prove again the fact that when the test comes the same feeling develops in the north as is charged up to the south. The people of the north have long condemned occurrences in the south such as they are now staging in their own communities. The closer view is what the north has needed to make them realize a very important and lamentable truth. Let us hope the northern press may see the error of their former position and cease to widen the breach.

REGULATION TO PREVENT INTERSTATE SHIPMENT OF TUBERCULAR CATTLE

It is Impossible to Tell the Tubercular From the Healthy Cows by External Appearance.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

The regulation prohibiting, after July 1, 1919, the interstate movement of cattle for breeding or dairy purposes unless they are properly tuberculin-tested, will prove to be a long step toward the control of tuberculosis and its eventual eradication in this country, according to officials of the United States department of agriculture. It supplements and strengthens state regulations on this subject.

The object of the regulation is specifically to prevent the interstate shipment of diseased animals to cattle breeders or dairymen who are trying to drive out or keep tuberculosis from their herds. Cattle consigned to a public stockyard, and steers and strictly range cattle may be moved interstate without restriction under the new regulation.

Copies of the regulation, which has been issued by the secretary of agriculture and is known as regulation seven of bureau of animal industry order 263, are being printed, and will be available soon for cattle owners, dealers, veterinarians and others who may desire them.

The regulation of interstate movement of cattle follows the same principle used successfully in the control of other animal diseases, and has been recommended to the department of agriculture by many cattle owners as an essential part of the campaign against tuberculosis, which is now getting well underway, and in which the federal government and 42 states are co-operating.

What Cattle May Be Moved.

Cattle known to be tubercular may be moved interstate for immediate slaughter under federal inspection. They must be marked for identification; must be accompanied by a certificate showing their condition, that they may be shipped interstate, and the purpose for which they are shipped; transportation companies must identify the cattle as tubercular on waybills and other papers; cars or boat compartments in which they are moved must be cleaned and disinfected under bureau regulations; and the cattle must not be transported in cars or boat compartments containing healthy cattle or hogs unless the latter are for immediate slaughter.

Pure-bred cattle which have been shipped interstate for breeding or feeding purposes, and which have reacted to the tuberculin test subsequent to such shipment, may be reshipped interstate upon proper certificate for purposes other than slaughter, provided they are consigned to the original owner at the same point of origin; the reshipment must be made within four months of the original shipment; they shall not be shipped to any state or territory that does not provide for quarantine of tubercular cattle; they cannot again be shipped interstate except for immediate slaughter under government inspection; requirements of identification and disinfection must be observed.

Briefly, helpers may be moved interstate for feeding or grazing on certification that they will not be used for other purposes, and cows may be shipped interstate from public stock yards on affidavit to the same effect. Bulls may be shipped from public stock yards for feeding provided the owner or shipper makes affidavit that they are for feeding only, and the state to which they are shipped provides for quarantine.

Certificate With Accredited Cattle.

Cattle from a herd officially accredited as free from tuberculosis may be shipped interstate if accompanied by official certificates showing they are from such a herd.

Tuberculin tests for the detection of tuberculosis may be made by veterinary inspectors of the bureau of animal industry at public stock yards or regular bureau stations or by a veterinarian of the state of origin, authorized by the state and approved by the bureau of animal industry.

ENORMOUS LOSS IN THRESHING

Million Bushels of Grain Lost Each Year Because of Inefficient Methods.

KEEP MACHINES IN REPAIR

Separators Out of Adjustment Are Cause of Greatest Trouble—Thresherman Should Study Manufacturer's Instructions.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Every important grain state has been losing over a million bushels of grain each year because of inefficient threshing methods, declare investigators of the United States department of agriculture. The government, by bringing this enormous loss to the attention of farmers and threshermen and showing them how to avoid it, saved 22,000,000 bushels of grain in the 21 states in which the educational work was carried on last year.

When an average of eight bushels of grain is lost on every farm in the United States at threshing time every year, that loss begins to have a personal meaning. With wheat worth $2.25, it is well worth while to prevent that loss, if possible. And it is entirely possible. The chief source of loss is the inefficient operation of threshing machines.

Any standard threshing machine will do satisfactory work if kept in repair and operated intelligently. If the operator knows his machine, and sees that it is properly adjusted and operated, grain will come through clean and losses will be small. The farmer should know enough about the general operation of a threshing machine to detect poor work, which means a direct loss to him.

Adjust Separator Carefully.

To do good work the separator must be set level, both crosswise and lengthwise, and then carefully adjusted to the particular job at hand. The greater part of the separation is done in the cylinder and immediately after the grain passes over it. If cracked grains are frequent there may be too much

Large pile shows grain wasted while threshing 2½ bushels—8 pints in this instance. Small pile shows grain wasted after adjustments had been made to machine—less than 1 pint. The unnecessary loss of 7 pints occurred every two minutes the separator was in operation. This means that 4½ per cent of the grain was lost.

end play of the cylinder, the speed may be too high, or the concaves may be set too high. The teeth may be crooked or too high and not centered. Too rapid speed will also crack grain. Dry grain demands a lower speed of the cylinder.

Unthreshed heads are often found in the tailings. This results from missing or broken teeth, or teeth too far apart, not centered, or badly worn; concave set too low, or concave with not enough teeth. The speed of the cylinder also causes many unthreshed heads. Damp, unripe or moldy grain requires more than normal speed of the cylinder to thresh it out well.

Operator Should Know Machine.

Grain is lost through the improper adjustment of other parts of the separator as well as the cylinder, so it is evident that the operator must be thoroughly familiar with the entire machine. It may not be possible to save all the grain now lost, but the careless operator who does not know how to adjust the different parts of his machine will waste a great amount unnecessarily. He will surely have to make frequent stops for adjustment. Every time a machine stops the whole crew must be idle until it starts again—a loss of time to everybody concerned.

Manufacturers furnish instruction books on the care and operation of their threshing machine. They have spent years in experimenting, and they know how their machines should be run to secure the most satisfactory results. A great deal of the trouble experienced by the thresherman is due to his disregard of or even neglect to read the manufacturers' instructions.

There are other ways in which grain can be saved, but the proper operation of the separator is the most important. Efficient operation of the threshing machine should interest both threshermen and farmers.

CHECK TOMATO LEAF BLIGHT BY SPRAYING

As Many as Seven Applications Made in West Virginia.

Color and Solidity of Fruit Was Improved and 39 Per Cent Increase in Yield Secured—Bordeaux Soap Mixture Used.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

"I wouldn't grow tomatoes in a blight infested region without spraying," says S. L. Dodd, Jr., extension pathologist for the United States department of agriculture and West Virginia agricultural experiment station, who sprayed tomatoes for the control of blight in six counties of West Virginia in 1918. Thorough spraying was the keynote of his success. He made six, and in some fields seven applications, using spray mixture at the rate of 150 gallons an acre for mature plants. Spraying improved color and solidity of fruit, reduced rot and sunscald, and increased the yield of ripe fruit 39 per cent, and of both green and ripe fruit 55 per cent.

A small knapsack compressed-air sprayer was used in this work. Such sprayers are light, easy to operate, and produce a fine misty spray. Several different kinds, varying somewhat in shape and construction, but built on the compressed-air principle, are now offered for sale.

The spray formula used was 5-5-8-50 Bordeaux soap mixture, composed of five pounds of copper sulphate, five pounds stone lime, three pounds resin fish oil soap, and fifty gallons of water.

To reduce the work of preparing spray mixtures the following stock solutions were made: Five pounds of copper sulphate (blue stone) was dissolved by suspending it in a wooden vessel containing five gallons of water. Copper sulphate corrodes iron and tin. Five pounds of stone lime (quick-lime) was slaked in another vessel by slowly adding water at first and later increasing the volume to five gallons. Three pounds of resin fish oil soap was diluted in a third vessel by stirring it in hot water until thin and increasing the volume to five gallons by adding water of ordinary temperature.

These stock solutions keep indefinitely if not mixed or weakened by rain, but the lime should be covered to prevent drying out and air-slaking. The level of the liquid when freshly made and after each spray period should be marked on each vessel, and water added when needed to restore loss by evaporation.

Ten gallons of spray mixture are prepared by taking one gallon of each freshly stirred stock solution and increasing it to three and one-third gallons by adding water, and by pouring together and stirring the three diluted solutions thus made. The resulting mixture is ready for use as soon as strained and should be used while fresh, as it deteriorates by standing.

CARE OF HORSES' SHOULDERS

Prevent Accumulation of Dirt and Dandruff on Collars, Especially if Soreness Develops.

Do not use sweat pads. Keep collars clean of dandruff and dirt, especially if soreness develops. Sponge the shoulders of work horses with cold water at night after work. If they are sweaty at noon, sponge at noon also. Care should be taken in fitting collars on work horses. Many collars are too big or too loose. If the withers are fat or especially full, the fitting of collars will need extra care.—Ohio State University.

GAPES IN LITTLE CHICKENS

Disease Kills More Young Fowls Than Any Other Ailment—Discourages Poultry Keeping.

Probably more little chickens are killed by gapes than by any other one disease. On nearly every farm at least a few chickens die every spring of this trouble, and on many farms the loss is so great as to discourage the keeping of poultry.

FATTEN DUCKS FOR MARKET

For Two Weeks Give Mixture of Cornmeal, Middlings, Bran, Meat Scrap and Green Feed.

Before marketing the ducks, fatten for two weeks on a mixture of three pounds cornmeal, two pounds middlings, one pound bran, one pound meat scrap, one pound green feed, three per cent grit. Moisten with sour milk or buttermilk. Feed quite wet.

MANURE IN CROP ROTATIONS

Increased Yields Secured in Experiments at West Virginia and Ohio Experiment Stations.

The agricultural value of manure usually is greater than the plant-food value. For example, the application of 12½ tons of manure a year for 15 years at the West Virginia experiment station gave increased crop yields valued at $40 an acre a year, or $3.12 a ton for the manure used. During a period of ten years the Ohio experiment station has obtained an increase of crops valued at $4.69 a ton for the manure used. The application was made at the rate of eight tons of manure an acre during a five-year rotation of corn, wheat, oats, clover and timothy. Two applications of four tons each were made, one for corn and one for clover. Manure used in connection with continuous grain cropping did not maintain the yields, but when used in connection with crop rotation the yields of all crops were increased.

FLY REPELLANT FOR CATTLE

North Dakota Station Recommends Mixture of Soap, Crude Oil, Naphthalene and Water.

The North Dakota experiment station recommends the following repellent for flies of all kinds: Dissolve one cake of laundry soap in four gallons of soft water, while boiling hot, and one gallon of crude oil, slowly, and stir vigorously for ten minutes, then add four ounces of naphthalene and shake or agitate for fifteen minutes. This repellent can be used most effectively in a sprayer or it may be put on animals with a moist new cloth, care being taken not to rub the skin. It should be applied to the hair only.

FRESH WATER FOR CHICKENS

One of Most Important Factors in Keeping Young Fowls Growing—Keep Supply Clean.

One of the most important factors in keeping young chicks growing is good, clean, fresh water in vessels. As the days get warmer care should be taken to change the water as often as required to keep it clean and fresh.

GIVE ALFALFA A GOOD START

Too Much Is Expected of Seed and Not Enough Preparation Has Been Given to Soil.

Failures in growing alfalfa occur in a majority of cases at planting time. Too much is expected of the seed. Not enough preparation has been given to the soil, and the conditions which contribute to a healthy, thrifty, quick growth are entirely lacking.

Too many beginners with alfalfa seem to have the idea that because alfalfa gathers and appropriates to its own use the nitrogen from the air, that it is not necessary to have available nitrogen in the soil. This is not true. About one-third of the nitrogen used by legumes is taken from the soil direct, and two-thirds of it from the air.

KEEP HOGS COOL IN SUMMER

Animals Get Hot Very Easily and Care Should Be Taken to Keep Their Quarters Shaded.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Every time a hog gets too hot, he pants away an appreciable portion of meat. And hogs get hot very easily. During the summer, especial care should be taken to have the hog quarters well shaded. If no natural shade is available, a very good shelter may be made of straw or boughs placed about four feet above the pen or wallow. Clean water in which the hogs can lie should always be provided, says the United States department of agriculture.

GOOD MATERIAL FOR LITTER

Straw Gathers Moisture and When It Becomes Limp It Is Practically Useless for Hens.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Straw and similar material gathers moisture, and when the litter becomes damp enough to be limp it is practically useless for fowls to scratch in for their grain feed. Scratching litter in the poultry house is essential, but it should be cleaned out and renewed frequently.

CALOMEL SALIVATES AND MAKES YOU SICK

Acts like dynamite on a sluggish liver and you lose a day's work.

There's no reason why a person should take sickening, salivating calomel when only a few cents buys a large bottle of Dodson's Liver Tonic—a perfect substitute for calomel.

It is a pleasant, vegetable liquid which will start your liver just as surely as calomel, but it doesn't make you sick and can not salivate.

Children and grown folks can take Dodson's Liver Tonic, because it is perfectly harmless.

Calomel is a dangerous drug. It is mercury and attacks your bones. Take a dose of nasty calomel today and you will feel weak, sick and nauseated tomorrow. Don't lose a day's work. Take a spoonful of Dodson's Liver Tonic instead and you will wake up feeling great. No more biliousness, constipation, sluggishness, headache, coated tongue or sour stomach. Your druggist says if you don't find Dodson's Liver Tonic acts better than horrible calomel your money is waiting for you.

Answer Your Telephone Promptly

One habit that will do much to help improve the quality of your telephone service is the habit of answering your telephone promptly.

Promptness in answering is a courtesy that your telephone caller appreciates—delay may cause him to abandon the call.

In one large city records show that on nearly seven out of every 100 telephone calls there is a delay of more than a minute before the called party answers. This occurs thousands of times daily, and in one-fourth of the cases the party calling does not wait.

To help yourself and others to receive a better quality of telephone service, why not make it an invariable rule to answer your telephone promptly?

GLAD TO TESTIFY

Says Watoga Lady, "As To What Cardui Has Done For Me, So As To Help Others."

Watoga, W. Va.—Mrs. S. W. Gladwell, of this town, says: "When about 15 years of age, I suffered greatly. Sometimes would go a month or two, and I had terrible headache, backache, and bearing-down pains, and would just drag and had no appetite. Then... it would last... two weeks, and was so weakening, and my health was awful.

My mother bought me a bottle of Cardui, and I began to improve after taking the first bottle, so kept it up till I took three... I gained, and was well and strong, and I owe it all to Cardui.

I am married now and have 3 children... I have never had to have a doctor for female trouble, and just resort to Cardui if I need a tonic. I am glad to testify to what it has done for me, so as to help others."

If you are nervous or weak, have headaches, backaches, or any of the other ailments so common to women, why not give Cardui a trial? Recommended by many physicians. In use over 40 years. Begin taking Cardui today. It may be the very medicine you need.

ITALY HARD HIT BY COAL FAMINE

All Other Problems Pale Before Paralysis of Big Industries

LACK OF FUEL STOPS WORK

Nation Will Be Ruined if Aid Is Long Withheld—Price of Coal Is $50 a Ton When It Is to Be Had at All.

Rome.—Italians are struck by the similarity of problems which face citizens of this small country and of the big, rich and most prosperous United States. They read of food profiteering, of rent profiteering, of railroad deficits, rub their eyes and exclaim: "Is it possible that even America, that gold-mine amongst countries, has these worries, just as we have?" Even the Italian public school teachers' strike which has driven millions of mothers to distraction, seems to have a faint reflection on the other side.

But one problem here has no counterpart in America. It is the coal famine. This is the worst trouble this country has to face. Everything else pales before it, for the lack of coal is paralyzing industry, closing factories and casting thousands of men and women out of employment. People who listen with or without approval, to D'Annunzio's wild diatribes against Americans and especially against President Wilson, know at the back of their minds that only the coal famine really matters.

Coal Scarcity Threatens Ruin.

Every thinking man and woman here knows that unless the coal famine is stopped, ruin will soon stare Italy in the face. Her coal supply which must be entirely imported, is never enough to last for more than a few weeks.

Italy pays $30 a ton for coal that costs $15 in France, $10 in England and $8 in Germany. The Italian government has tried to get big coal contracts with American mine owners. American coal, at the pit's mouth is cheaper than any other. But Italy cannot get the transports except at such rates that make American coal a prohibitive luxury. Italy had no coal mines destroyed during the war, because she had none to be destroyed. Italy has suffered from coal shortage, worse than any other country, and still suffers.

Lack of Coal Basis of Problems.

The question is like a magic circle, you go round and round all the problems which are causing strikes throughout the country—dear living, lack of raw materials, transports, dear foreign money, and you always get back to coal. Without coal there are no industries, without industries there are no exports, without exports there is no money. And so it goes on. Discontent with economic conditions is general, yet Italy has no coal at home and no transports to go and fetch it from America, where she could get it cheaper than anywhere else.

War Shipbuilding Loss Is Billion and Half

Washington.—The United States will have to write off on its books a loss of approximately $1,500,000,000 on account of its merchant shipbuilding program. It was said by congressmen familiar with the merchant marine problems that confronted this country at the beginning of the war, and the herculean efforts made by the government during the war to supply the needed ships.

"Had the war lasted another year the advantages and benefits of this wonderful effort and vast outlay of money would have been clearly apparent to all," commented Representative Alexander, former chairman of the house merchant marine committee.

Alexander is assisting in shaping a permanent national merchant shipping policy and in fashioning legislation that will guide the country in its future handling of the great fleet of merchant ships it now owns and may continue to own for some years to come.

VISIT ROME'S RUINS BY AIR

Italian Navy Establishes Dirigible Service of Aircraft for Use Daily.

Rome.—American tourists may hereafter visit Roman ruins—the Coliseum, Forum, Pantheon, Caraballa baths and the basilica of Constantine, St. Peter's and other Roman gems, not in antiquated horse-drawn carriages, but in airships. The Italian navy has established a commercial dirigible service for visiting Rome and its environs from the air. The venture has met with complete success, for daily the aircraft are filled to capacity. The correspondent of the Associated Press viewed Rome from the Italian navy's dirigible M-1.

GIVES $750,000 TO VICTORY

Wealthy Londoner to Subscribe to Loan and Turn Back Bonds.

London, England.—A wealthy man of London, who signs himself simply as "F. S. T.," has written to one of the newspapers, declaring his intention to subscribe to the victory loan in the sum of $750,000 and then turn the bonds back to the government for immediate cancellation.

"Today on the eve of peace," writes F. S. T., "we are faced with another crisis, less obvious, but none the less searching. By natural reaction not unlike that which led to the excesses of the restoration after the reign of the Puritans, all classes are in danger of being submerged by a wave of extravagance and materialism."

"The wealthy classes know the danger of the present debt. Let them impose upon themselves, each as he is able, a voluntary levy. It should be possible to pass into the exchequer within 12 months such a sum as would save the taxpayer £50,000,000 ($250,000,000) a year."

TAKE YEAR'S FIRST BIG SHARK

Deep Sea Fishermen Get One Off Jersey Coast Weighing 750 Pounds.

New York.—The first honest-to-goodness-so-help-me big shark of the season was captured off the Jersey coast outside the three-mile limit by Conrad Anderson, Charles Wooley and Maj. William A. Taylor, leading members of Seabright's colony of pioneer deep sea fishermen.

"Wooley sneaked a baited line overboard and caught a bluefish. Permitting the fish to wiggle on the hook, Anderson cast the shark tackle over-side. The shark, seeing the wriggling bluefish, made immediately for it.

More bait was heaved in the vicinity of Anderson's already baited hook and in less time than it takes Major Taylor to tell it the shark was a prisoner, hooked just below the high instep abaft his snout. He was 9 feet long and weighed 750 pounds.

YANKS NOT THE HIGHEST PAID

Australia, New Zealand and Canada Soldiers All Receive More Money.

Washington.—Popular belief that the American soldier is higher paid than those of any other country is erroneous, according to an official table issued by the general staff.

This shows the three British dominions—Australia, New Zealand and Canada—allow materially higher pay for each grade than does the United States. For instance, in the Australian army, a corporal earns $72.90 per month, as compared to $36 in the American army.

The other extreme is shown in the cases of France, Japan and Italy, where the private receives $1.50, $0.78 and $0.58 per month, respectively, against the $30 paid the American doughboy.

Talk Saves From Robbers.

Baxter Springs, Kan.—Jack Welch of Picher, Okla., a prominent business man, says the next time he comes here he will come down in the daytime and will walk down the middle of the street. The other evening he came here on business and while walking under a large tree near the Methodist church a man stepped out, and pointing a revolver at him said: "Stick 'em up or I'll kill you." Noticing the hand holding the revolver was shaking, Mr. Welch said: "You wouldn't kill a man for a dollar or two, would you?" After a short conversation the robber fled without searching his victim.

SHIPBUILDING IN COLLEGE COURSES

Many Institutions Will Include Naval Architecture in Curriculums.

TO BE DEMAND FOR EXPERTS

United States Shipping Board Is Encouraging and Fostering Plans for Development of Marine Architects and Engineers.

New York.—Schools of naval architecture and ship construction may soon become important branches of educational institutions of the United States if this nation continues its headway in maritime strength. Fourteen universities and technical colleges have signified their interest in a line of instruction that was decadent almost to the point of extinction when the needs of war presented a demand for ships that could not be denied, and some of them have already established courses in naval architecture, marine engineering and ship construction, while others are planning similar action.

The United States Shipping Board Emergency Fleet corporation, which felt so keenly the lack of technicians in carrying out its shipbuilding program, and had to establish emergency schools for intensive training, is encouraging and fostering plans for the new schools in all institutions capable of expanding their fields of learning.

It is assumed by men in closest touch with the situation that the need for marine architects and engineers will grow as the yards expand and enter the open field of competition in construction for home and foreign account. On this assumption P. J. McAliffe, manager of the division of ship construction, recently sent letters to universities and technical and preparatory schools which read as follows:

"Does your curriculum include a naval architecture course, and if so, would you be interested in receiving a copy of the following information pertaining to ships and ship construction?"

- 1.—Technical order (covering change and alteration for vessels).
- 2.—Proposed standardization of rolled steel ships.
- 3.—Trial trip data.
- 4.—Reference data book of various steel vessels.
- 5.—Structural steel for ships.
- 6.—Charts showing total rivets driven at various shipyards.
- 7.—Machinery drawings of government harbor tug.
- 8.—Drawings of standard machine engines.
- 9.—Blueprints showing the efficiency of shipyards, based upon their tonnage deliveries for six months' period.
- 10.—Employment bulletins.
- 11.—Material list for wood ships.
- 12.—Book of standard designs.
- 13.—Charts showing the number of rivets driven and the tonnage of steel for various designs.
- 14.—Blueprints showing particulars of designs of various ships.
- 15.—Standard form of E. R. C. contract for ship construction.

"Upon receipt of your request we will forward you copies as desired by you."

Many Colleges Respond.

The University of Pennsylvania, Columbia university, Harvard university, Cornell university, University of Michigan, Boston Institute of Technology, Princeton university, Yale university, Drexel institute, Philadelphia; Webb academy, New York city; Lafayette university, Bethlehem, Pa.; Pratt institute, Brooklyn, N. Y.; Lehigh university, Easton, Pa.; Stevens institute, Hoboken, N. J., and the Carnegie Institute of Technology, Pittsburgh, Pa., sent in requests for the data.

Herbert L. Seward, assistant professor of mechanical engineering at Sheffield Scientific School, Yale university, wrote:

"I would be very glad indeed to receive the 15 items you mention. We are planning and developing courses in marine engineering, and this material seems very appropriate."

MAKES HIS WIFE'S GOWNS

She Shingles Roofs and Then Finds Happiness in Unusual Domestic Pastime.

Santa Monica, Cal.—Mr. Husband, how would you like to make your wife a hat while she shingled the roof? Mrs. Wife, how would you like to wield a hammer and saw while your husband designed your gowns? Impossible? Not at all. Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Springer of this city say it makes for domestic happiness. They've been married 13 years, and every time Mrs. Springer needs a new hat or gown Mr. Springer gets busy and designs and makes them.

And, to make things even, Mrs. Springer recently shingled their home, using 27 bundles of shingles, and painted the interior of the house. She's an expert with the saw and hammer, too. "We find our unusual and opposite shillies a pleasure," said Mrs. Springer. "And perhaps there would not be so many divorces if other people were so agreeable," added Mr. Springer.
